

Alpha & Ambitious Women Win in Love & Business

THE BALANCING ACT OF PROFESSIONAL SUCCESS & PERSONAL FULFILLMENT

THE VISION OF BEAUTY

Hi! I'm Trish, a licensed and certified femininity coach supporting women just like you thrive in both love and business.

As a busy award winning entrepreneur and wife of over a decade, I too struggled with achieving the perfect balance of professional success and maintaining a loving relationship. This nearly upended my family before I uncovered the blindspots in love and business.

I've set out to help other women learn how to truly balance these energies, so that you can achieve a natural balance and overall happiness in every aspect of life.

With gently hand holding or no holds bar approach, let your intuition guide you to taking the step your life deserves!

Fully embracing feminine energy helps us in every aspect of our lives – whether at work, in relationships, overall communication, manifesting a career change, or anything in between.

Tapping into your feminine energy doesn't mean letting go of all your masculine energy. It's all about achieving the perfect balance. So many of us have abandoned femininity altogether while trying to survive in a hyper-masculine world.

Achieving balance between feminine and masculine energy helps us to thrive rather than merely survive.

Need help balancing love and business?

COMPLIMENTARY CALL

MASCULINE ENERGY

Both men and women have masculine energy. Oftentimes, we are unaware of exactly which energy we are in. Not knowing the difference between masculine and feminine energy in love and business is a blindspot that's revealed through failed attempts, arguments and more.

Masculine energy is slow moving energy. It is analytical, hunting, leading, and giving. It is your masculine energy that goes after opportunities and success. It is competitive and task oriented.

Many women in business are masculine energy dominated. So how does that masculinity show up in your relationship? Well typically, if your unbalanced in your energies and more masculine energy dominated, this may cause your partner to either yield into his feminine energy, or stand his ground and start to compete in areas that you maybe unaware of.

FEMININE ENERGY

Both men and women have feminine energy. The understanding of how feminine energy attracts masculine energy will help you earn more sales, create deeper connections in business and keep your partner interested in you.

Feminine energy is fast moving energy. It is creative, soft, kind and receiving energy. Emotions resides within feminine energy.

Women in business whose careers encompass creative types, music or even sports are feminine energy lead. Feminine energy is fluid, flowing and moving.

If your feminine energy dominated with unbalanced masculine energy, you may experience emotionally charged misunderstandings, people pleasing and failure to thrive.

Increasing your knowledge on exactly how your unique feminine energy is used, expressed and understood will aid you in leveling up your career and being treated as an equal in your romantic partnership.

BALANCE LOVE & BUSINESS

The balancing act of success in love and business should be approached with a positive mindset and strategy. You could spend years building your business while watching your relationship dwindle, not attract the right partner for you while being mislabeled as bossy, a work-a-holic or worse.

You've learned how to create opportunities for yourself, but have you learned how to balance your professional success with personal fulfillment? Would you like to attract more sales, more love or both?

That's where I come in. I've taken the first step (masculine) to reach out to those who want to receive (feminine) all the positive goodies of life. Follow the link below to schedule a complimentary 30 min Win In Love & Business call and let's uncover your blindspots and attract more love!

COMPLIMENTARY CALL